

Explore NYC's Natural Side: Prospect Park, Ecology of a Forested Refuge

Join the Natural Areas Conservancy and Prospect Park Alliance for a guided walk through Brooklyn's Prospect Park. Home to much of Brooklyn's remaining native forests, Prospect Park provides essential natural habitat for native plants and wildlife. The walk will be followed by a presentation with light refreshments.

Thursday, October 16th from 5:30pm-8:00pm

Prospect Park, Brooklyn, New York
Meet at the Prospect Park Audubon Center at the Boathouse located inside the Lincoln Road/Ocean Avenue entrance.

This event is free and open to the public.

To register for this event, please visit the Natural Areas Conservancy website www.naturalareasnyc.org/learn/

 naturalareasnyc |  @naturalareasnyc |  naturalareasnyc

